Spirit Week...

leads up one of the biggest events of the year - Homecoming. During this week students showed off their best headwear and bedwear. PJ and Hat Days are favorites among the Bulldog faithful. And Retro Day provides an opportunity to get out the "old-fashioned" duds and style. Here's to all who participate and give the rest of us a chance to share a laugh.

Grease...

Rememberin' the Rock and Roll 50's

For two nights in November, Grease, the play by Samuel French, lit up the auditorium with the sights and sounds of the 50's. The musical showcased the talent of 18 actors and singers and six crewmembers. The story of teens in love, trying be something they are not, is a timeless theme.

Coupled with the culinary skills of the Hospitality Community, the dinner theater became an experience for many. The evening had everyone laughing and full of excitement with the singing and dancing.

Lessons in determination important in winless season

With a small squad, first year coach Jack Bush had planned to turn around the Bulldog's recent football fortunes. Instead of wins, his players got first hand lessons in disappointment, courage, determination, and giving extra effort.

While the team's play improved, they were unable to beat a difficult schedule. "The team attitude was good and the players tried," said Coach Bush, "but we didn't accomplish what we wanted to for the season."

Seniors Lead Varsity Season

In his first year as varsity head coach, Dave Johnson inherited a team that was dominated by seniors.

After a slow start against non-conference teams, the Bulldogs picked up the pace, going 7-2 against KCK League opponents to finish the season with a winning record and qualifying for State.

A Night to Remember

Senior Bulldog players were joined by their parents at the last home game of the season. Traditionally banners and flowers are presented to each player along with the expression of thanks from coaches, administrators and fans.

Girls Basketball: A Learning Experience

Stiff competition early in the season led to a slow start for new head coach Eric Townsend's team. The Varsity wins came in mid-season including a victory over KCK League foe Harmon Hawks. With both the Varsity and JV squads composed of mostly under classmen the young teams learned a lot and look to improve next year.

Bulldog Wrestling

Team gets smaller, but stays tough.

With a young squad that diminished in numbers as the season went along, a committed dozen wrestlers found some successes. Stand out wrestlers, the Newbill brothers made it happen. Aaron went 28-7 in the season and Robert went 23-10, both qualifying for state. There were other wrestlers who stepped up and impressed the coaches as well. Coach Gonzales mentioned both Bryan Stricklin and Mike McDonald as being improved.

Overall the season was a good one for a young team. None of the wrestlers were seniors, so the Bulldogs only gained experience. "We need to keep our core, and work hard in practice," noted Coach Brian Dolezal.

Bulldog Baseball Features Youth

The 2005 edition of the Bulldog baseball team was most noted for its youth and inexperience. With a large group this year, the baseball team was looking toward having an improved season. Head Coach Dreher and new assistant, Coach Wehling, spent practice time working on basics. While the season did not go as planned, a pair of mid-season wins gave some hope that the team was building a neucleus for the 2006 season.

Small Learning Communities

Learning with a focus - students & teachers together

Opportunity Center

Keeping in mind that the goal of education is to ensure all students are successful, Wyandotte's Opportunity Center is a small community that provides students with extra help.

Mr. Ray McCann, coordintor, said,"An SLC with small classes is better for a student to focus and to actually learn." Helping students who've had trouble being succesful is the Wyandotte way.

E.S.L

English as a Second Language is a program for many students from different national and ethnic backgrounds. Its purpose is to help these students learn and use the English language to enhance their education experience.

Elective Lane

Elective lane is comprised of classes that are required for students in all SLC's. These include fine arts, computer and physical education.

VAT Visual Arts & Technology

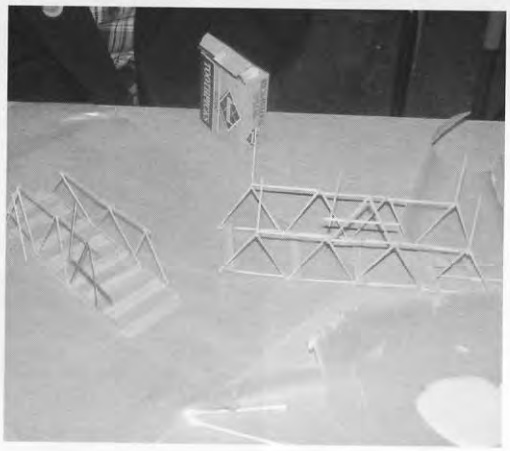
With computers and pencils, digital cameras and video, color and shape, students express themselves and interact with their environment. Using these tools and concepts of art and design, students produce works that use them in practical applications as well as works of art that are visually and aesthetically pleasing.

Foundations in Applied Skills & Technology FAST

Wood and metal tech, drafting and Cisco. F.A.S.T. is not just a community where students build things. Students learn many technical skills and use them in a variety of hands-on experiences. Design and drafting classes and computer networking help students develop their projects from beginning to end.

F.A.S.T. also began a recycling program to rid the school of all the excess paper.



preparing the business leaders of tomorrow

Business Academy

Developing business skills is the first step in developing future business leaders. Accounting, personnel, marketing and product development all are aspects of the Business Academy curriculum.

As students apply these skills in business and pursue further study, they will become successful and be prepared for greater management responsibility in their chosen field.

Performing Arts

Music and dance are visible signs of Performing Arts students at work...but the evidence of creativity goes beyond that. Every play has a playwright and a director and a set designer and builders. Every piece of music has a composer. Every dance has a choreographer. The many talents of Wyandotte students are developed and showcased in the schools many performance opportunities.

Global Communications

The ability to communicate is essential in this gobal age of information. Through the study of languages, journalism, and practical experince in publications, Global Communications students add these skills to their study of core courses.

The Courtyard Garden is one of the community's projects in the school.

Health

Careers in health care are becoming more and more important in our society. Health Community students study a variety of related courses and have internship and community service experiences in the community that are invaluable as they choose and prepare for careers as nurses, technologists, or in other helping professions.

Hospitality

from child care to kitchens, to hotels, to tourism...

In the future you will see Wyandotte graduates working in catering, child care, hotel / motel industry, restaurants, travel and tourism. With both school and community-based experiences these students are learning the skills they need to excel in the many potential careers in hospitality.

Small Learning Communities

Students Learning Together

Area Technical School

The USD 500 A.T.S. program is a technical school that provides senior students with an opportunity to learn about a specific job or career path.

Through hands-on experiences as well as academic study, 30 Wyandotte seniors participated in computer repair, graphic communications, multi-media / video production, professional cooking, auto collision repair and accounting programs.

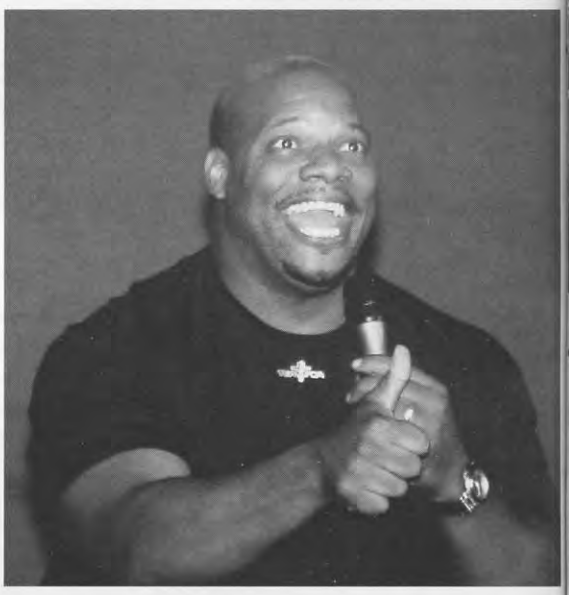
FCA invites Fitzhugh to Wyandotte



Steve Fitzhugh, former Denver Bronco and Cleveland Brown football player, visited Wyandotte with a mission to inspire kids. He did that by asking a simple qustion: "Are you going to hang with chickens or eagles?" To be a success in life, he said you have to make many important decisions. "Cut chickens off that hold you back from succeeding," said Fitzhugh, "because chickens cannot fly, but you are an eagle and you need to soar." His visit, very popular with the students, was sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes [FCA]with whom he works around the country.

Activities

The Power of Debate

Debate is a way for students to organize and create arguments. Students learn different techniques and strategies to create solid arguments on significant issues such as school uniforms, weapons of mass destruction, whether the U.S. should support the UN, and others.

In debate, there's the affirmative and the negative. The affirmative argues the subject and the negative argues against it.

"The most important thing about debate is the presentation. You have to have good arguments and you have to talk fast but still be understood," said McWilliams.

The students involved in debate are Merdise Bailey-Bird, Brandon Reynolds, Sean Houcks, Michael Johnson, Jackie Brown, Elizabeth Smith, Ashley Cartwright, Susan Ikerd, Shonta Ashley and Betty Criss.

Merdise Bailey-Bird and Betty Criss get their notes in order while preparing for their presentation.

Student Council

The Wyandotte Student Council is composed of students from every Small Learning Community. The students hold an annual blood drive and also plan fund raising events to support not-for-proft groups both nationally and in the community. The Trivia Contest, pitting the "brains" from the SLC's, is a tradition.

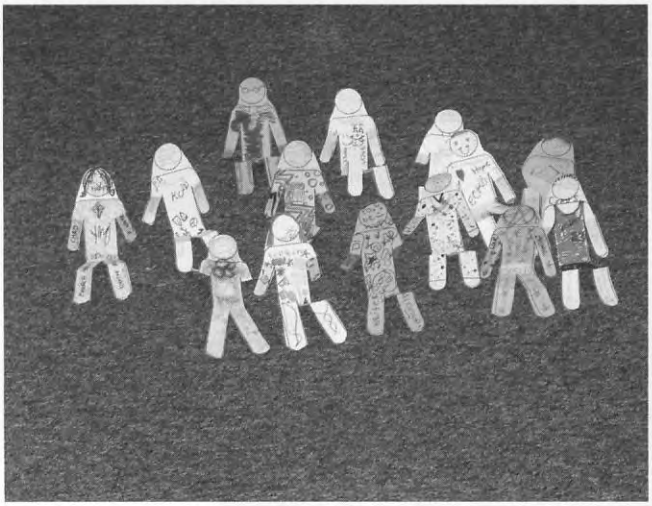
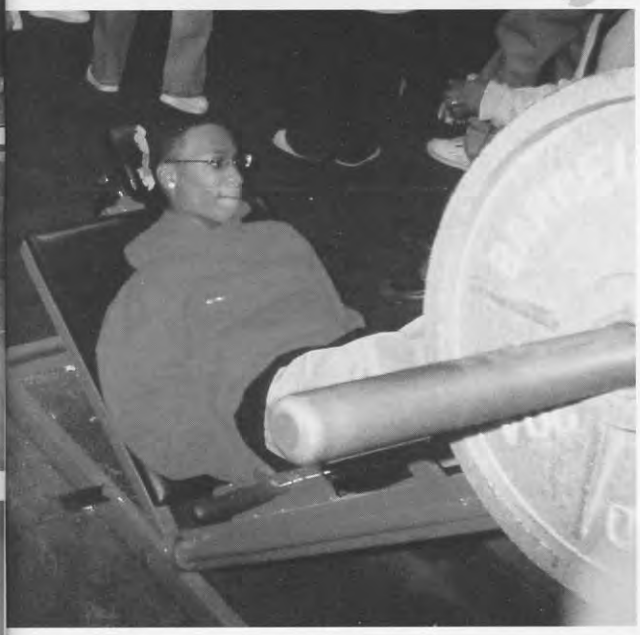
Unitown

a sharing & learning experience

Unitown's two-day program brings together students from Wyandotte, Shawnee Mission East and Turner high schools. The focus is on getting individuals to know themselves better, face some of their own biases and experience both diversity and tolerance. "I learned a lot from Unitown," said FAST sophomore Raynell Reid. "I lerned how to open up and talk to people of different backgrounds." Sponsored by the National Conference for Community and Justice, the vision is to make America a better place for all of us.



Activity Period...



trying something new

An activity period held once a month gave students a chance to try something new they had an interest in. From chess and games, to knitting or scrapbooking, even car repair or learning about a different culture, students explored new experiences.

Black History Month

The African-American culture of Wyandottte was showcased during the annual assembly. The program included African dances, songs, poetry and storytelling. It captured many aspects of African-American art as well as customs and traditions and was well received by students. Displays in the school promoted the month-long celebration.

CINCO DE MAYO

Cinco de Mayo is one of the two most important dates for Mexico. Although Cinco de Mayo is not the independence day of Mexico, it is celebrated just as much.

At Wyandotte the Cinco de Mayo celebration has become an annual celebration in which the Hispanic students share their culture with their peers.

Students presented their culture in forms of dances and readings. The program was opened with an "Escolta" which is a group of students who honor the Mexican flag and the Mexican national anthem. Students were entertained by national florkloric music as well as songs on the top of the Latin music charts.

The highlight of the program was a local group, "Los Hechiseros de La Sierra.;" that played their hit songs.

The 2005 Prom was a great success.

Always & Forever

The Woodlands was the setting as the senior class made memories that they hope will last for "always and forever." The 2005 Prom's theme and the royal red, black and silver decorations, transformed an ordinary evening into a special one to be remembered for many years to come.

The introduction of the royal court and the crowning of Bryan Woodson and Azucena Clark as 2005 King and Queen was the highlight of the evening. And the dancing, partying and picture taking lasted into the night.

National Honor Society

Students inducted into the National Honor Society have demonstrated: Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service to others.

Miss Marlena Hernandez, WHS '01, told the inductees, previously inducted members and their guests, that she valued these characteristics and will carry them with her forever as a reminder. She encouraged the students to use their Wyandotte experience as a foundation for life and to continue to learn more and actively pursue their future. She reminded them, "It is your turn to create history."

The cermony includes the traditional solemn candle lighting ceremony and procession.

The year-end ceremonies begin...

Passing of the Robe

Passing of the robe from the Senior Class to the Junior Class is a tradition that has been practiced for more than nine decades.

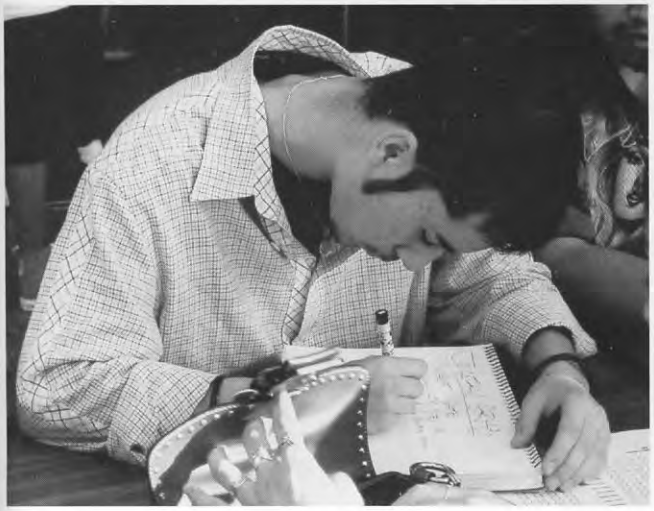
The ceremony represents a passing of leadership, goals, and responsibility from those who are leaving to those who will return in the fall for another school year. It is believed to be the only ceremony of its kind in the country.

Senior Cerus Hosseini passed the robe to Junior Trichelle Heard. The choir's performance and a solo by Melissa Ewing added to the program on this very special occasion.

The beginning of the last day...

Senior Breakfast

For seniors graduation day begins with breakfast, followed by the journey to Memorial Hall for graduation practice. Senior Breakfast is a tradition that has gone on for many years. Seniors congratulate each other and give autographs for the last time before they walk across the stage and become graduates. Many receive balloons and other awards and gifts from staff and friends.



The Night to Remember ...

GRADUATION 2005

The 2005 Graduation ceremony was a memorable moment for the seniors, their families and friends. Two-hundred and thirty-two seniors walked across the stage as each was recognized by name.

Class Valedictorian, Dominique Weismiller, told the class of 2005 not "to take anything for granted for tomorrow is not guaranteed...learn all you can...laugh, learn, and live." The 2005 Salutatorian Shavon Beamon reminded the seniors that they are ready to pursue their lives, and that the school days that have past are just a few steps toward success."

The graduates also accepted congratulations from Linda Murray, Assistant Superintendent of Personnal Services, who joined Mrs. Meredith Schrader, School Board Member, to confer the diplomas.
